Coming Soon: The Keep Sedona Beautiful Native Plant Workshop

Registration is now open for the Native Plant Workshop to be held on Saturday, April 1, from 8:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the West Sedona School.

Long-time fans and newcomers alike of this popular annual event are encouraged to register early to ensure they'll get their choice of presentations and mini-field-trips, now posted on the Keep Sedona Beautiful website: <http://www.keepsedonabeautiful.org/our-programs/native-plant-workshop.html>. Advance tickets are $35 for the general public and $25 for KSB members and, at the door, $45 and $35.

The workshop opens with a keynote by Ursula K Schuch, Extension Specialist and Professor in the School of Plant Sciences, entitled "Going Native – A Whole System Approach." The other keynote features Bill McDorman, Executive Director of Rocky Mountain Seed Alliance. His presentation is entitled "What is Native? What is Invasive?" In addition to the two keynotes, the program offers six one-hour presentations, given twice, so participants can choose one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

For more information and to register, call the KSB office at 928-282-4938 or visit the KSB website.
