Celebrating Our First 50 Years

November 8, 2022

The City of Sedona sustainability team is hosting their second community conversations event at the Library on November 17, at 11:30 A.M.

The second installment of the Community Conversations series will explore the topic of resiliency, a key element of many sustainability initiatives. By becoming more resilient, we can prepare our city for challenges such as natural disasters and economic recessions. The discussion will focus on the basics of resiliency, examples of resiliency programs at the national, state, and local levels, and how we can individually increase our resiliency.

This is a great opportunity to expand your sustainability knowledge, get to know the City of Sedona's sustainability team, and provide input on our community projects! Light snacks and drink will be provided, feel free to bring your own food as well.

Currently, there are 29 slots remaining. To register for the event, Click Here.
